Dog Is Saved in Italy - Level 1

A dog is under a house. The house is in Italy. People want to save this dog. They use another dog to find this dog.

They are very careful when they try to free the dog. When they free the dog, they give him water. Then they call for a veterinary doctor.

The dog is under the house for one day. This is because a big earthquake hits Italy on Sunday. Fortunately nobody dies, but 15,000 people lose their homes because many buildings are destroyed.

Difficult words: veterinary doctor (a doctor who helps animals), fortunately (thanks to good luck), destroyed (broken into tiny pieces).

Some helpful tips:

First of all, read all the text, and underline the words you know.
Find the key words in each paragraph. They are, in general, nouns.
It's important to observe the pictures, too.
After that, search the words you don't know. But, first, try to understand its meaning through the context. If you don't, use a dictionary.
Have a nice reading, everyone!!
